GLOBAL CITIES

HIS 5665

MONDAYS & WEDNESDAYS
1:00 PM-2:15 PM

Global urban history is an emerging field of study that uses cities as sites to explore the interconnectedness of the world. In this course, we will focus thematically on topics including global migrations, architecture and urban planning, natural resources, colonialism and (anti)imperialism, and gender and sexuality, with attention to similarities, differences, networks, and connections across space and time. Our emphasis will be on the 19th-21st centuries.

ALL majors welcome, no background in history or urban studies required!

For more information, email Tracy Neumann tracyneumann@wayne.edu